

Training Validation

Written by Mike Swofford

Friday, 17 September 2010 12:51 - Last Updated Wednesday, 15 August 2012 19:10

It's easy to check training records to see that your ScoutNet records match the training you or your unit members have completed. Just log into MyScouting.org , click on "Training Validation," then check to see if your trainings have been recorded in the Council's computer system.

We are encouraging all units to use this system to check the training status of all registered leaders. All you need is a list of everyone's membership ID Numbers and you can review the training status of the registered adult leaders. A list of these numbers can be found on your charter paperwork or you can obtain a list from your District Professional .

Online Training Validation